

Marketing, Press & PR

Each year, our Marketing & Press department deliver a high-profile national marketing and media campaign to ensure that Brighton Festival remains England's largest and most progressive arts festival.

Brighton Station Information Point

Each year Brighton Festival teams up with VisitBrighton, Brighton Fringe and Artist Open Houses to run an Information Point at Brighton Station at weekends.

We are looking for friendly, reliable people who are happy to provide information to members of the public. You'll be a confident English speaker, able to talk enthusiastically about all the things Brighton has on offer during Festival time in May.

You will need to be available for at least four shifts on the following dates in May:
Sat 6, Sun 7, Sat 13, Sun 14, Sat 20, Sun 21 May, Sat 27, Sun 28

Saturday shifts: 10am – 1.30pm (morning) & 1.30pm - 5pm (afternoon)
Sunday: 11am – 1.30pm (morning) & 1.30pm – 4pm (afternoon)

Brighton Festival Promotions Team (casual shifts)

Volunteers are an essential part of creating a buzzy atmosphere during the Festival by helping out with a variety of on-the-ground promotional and marketing activities. As part of your volunteer experience, you are encouraged to do at least one promotions shift under the supervision of our Marketing team.

Again, we're after friendly, reliable people who are enthusiastic about the arts and Brighton Festival. Duties may include:

- Handing out flyers and hats at the Children's Parade
- Being a 'deckchair attendant' for our giant deckchairs in Pavilion Gardens
- Organising flyer and poster distribution in key neighbourhoods
(let us know if you are local to Whitehawk or Hangleton /North Portslade)
- Helping with branding at outdoor and pop-up venues
- Carrying out audience surveys at free public events

These roles can involve lots of moving around and being on your feet – if you have any access requirements, please let us know.
